In this two hour workshop Prof Michael Keane will illustrate some effective ways to get you started writing up your research, whether this is an abstract, a chapter of your thesis or a research article. As well as showing some of the tools required to connect your arguments together in a written form, the presentation will look at several best practice formats for introductions, critical literature reviews, and conclusions. Michael will explain how and why these are effective, and how you can utilise similar writing formats.

Michael is author or editor of 16 books and more than 150 peer reviewed articles.

Curtin University Doctoral or Master (including coursework) students, honour students, early career researchers and supervisors welcome. (Please note our seminars do not meet the supervisor registry requirements).

RSVP
RSVP is essential. Please RSVP to Julie Lunn at humgraduatestudies@curtin.edu.au

iLecture
The ilecture can be accessed from hgso.curtin.edu.au/student_info/workshops.cfm

Please check your student email regularly for the latest information on seminars including venues and times. Venue locations can be found at properties.curtin.edu.au/maps/