

Curtin University

Humanities Office of Research and Graduate Studies

The End is in Sight Editing Your Thesis

Dr Anne Ryden

Date: Wednesday, 30 August 2017

Time: 1pm - 2pm

Venue: 501.201

Image by Jan Burgass

The End is in Sight consists of three workshops and one panel session which are designed to help HDR students who are in the last year of their thesis to submit.

Workshop

Why is it important to edit your thesis? How do you approach it? When should you start? Developing a capacity to edit your own work involves much more than simply improving your grammar, correcting spelling mistakes or fixing errors in punctuation, although these are important aspects.

Editing is one of the most important skills you will learn as a post-graduate. This session will give you some 'hands-on' advice about revising your work, editing your draft, the role of professional editors, and what examiners expect.

Curtin University Doctoral or Master (including coursework) students, honour students, early career researchers and supervisors welcome. (Please note our seminars do not meet the supervisor registry requirements).

RSVP

RSVP is essential. Please RSVP to Julie Lunn at humgraduatestudies@curtin.edu.au

iLecture

The iLecture can be accessed from hgs.curtin.edu.au/support/workshops/

Please check your student email regularly for the latest information on seminars including venues and times. Venue locations can be found at properties.curtin.edu.au/maps/

Make tomorrow better.

hgs.curtin.edu.au